Over 8,000 schools and parks across the country are enjoying the benefits of programs which allows kids to be more active and involved.

Three individual programs that:

- Add up to 100 permanent games and activities for your playground
- Reduces bullying, conflict and injuries
- Develops good physical activity and nutrition habits
- Combats obesity
- Develops motor and social skills

The Peaceful Playgrounds Recess Program allows you to organize the playground area to reduce injuries, bullying and conflicts. You can also design your own layout with permanent painted game markings that help make activity time a more positive experience. Hopscotch, alphabet grids, and number grids are just a few examples of the 100 games that can be added.

Research has documented that "more game markings, equals more physical activity" indicating that Peaceful Playgrounds is a low-cost intervention in the childhood obesity crisis. In a nationwide survey of Principals, 87% reported an increase in physical activity as a result of the Peaceful Playgrounds Program.

The program's unique design spreads children out evenly throughout the play yard, allowing the maximum number of students to be involved in healthy and educational play. Game choices include individual, cooperative and competitive game choices. Markings address motor development skills, cognitive skills and social skill interaction.

Set up is easy and can be done by members of the school staff and parent groups.
